

Global Food Safety & Quality Policy

AFB International's goal is to be recognized as the highest quality supplier of companion animal palatants in the world.

What does Quality & Food Safety mean to AFB?

We measure product quality and safety through extensive palatability testing utilizing our state-of-the-art PARC facility and comprehensive analysis of predetermined proximates and microbiological organisms.

How do we achieve Quality & Food Safety?

We acknowledge that in order to obtain this goal we must commit to achieving the highest level of food safety and quality for our products and in our facilities. We do this through commitment to GFSI standards from the top down. All employees understand AFB's stance on food safety and quality and are charged with ensuring that these objectives are met continuously.

Our aim is to supply our customers the safest, most consistent palatants, while delivering high quality products, value and excellent customer satisfaction. Our HACCP Food Safety Plan ensures that all products produced by AFB International have met our strict internal standards prior to shipment to our customers.

We strive to stay current with regulations and comply with customer requirements by conducting annual reviews of our Quality Management System, developing relationships with our customers, being active members of regulatory bodies and through extensive research.

Jared Lozo
President
AFB International